

"Local temperatures are rising at a speed of 0.6°C each decade,
more than 3 times the global average," said Lee Boon-ying, director of the Hong Kong Observatory.